Statement from California Alliance for Job Executive Director Michael Quigley on passage of Senate Bill 1 (The Road Rehabilitation and Accountability Act of 2017):

The passage of this historic transportation-funding plan is not just an investment in California’s infrastructure, it’s an investment in California’s economic future. SB1 will create hundreds of thousands of family supporting jobs while providing California with the necessary resources to fix our state’s aging infrastructure. Additionally, the accompanying constitutional amendment and accountability reforms ensure the revenues will be spent exclusively on transportation projects. The California Alliance for Jobs would especially like to thank Governor Jerry Brown, Pro-Tem de León, Speaker Rendon, Senator Beall and Assemblymember Frazier and all the members of the legislature who supported this important legislation. Without their courage and dedication to passing a transportation-funding package this would not have been possible.
